To renew a Guyana passport, an applicant must complete form A - -for a Guyana Passport module and return its existing passport with the module. If the previous passport has been lost or stolen, the applicant must complete the Lost or Stolen Passport Information Sheet section of the application. In addition to the application form, an applicant must provide a suitable color photograph of himself, as well as relevant proof of his identity and his status as a citizen of Guyana. Those who are born outside Guyana must provide proof of naturalization or other evidence of current citizenship. If you have an American passport that is expiating early, the State Department urges you to renew it as soon as possible. Officials expect an increase in demand this year as millions of passports of 10 years issued in 2006 and 2007 expire. It is also important to know the validity restrictions of the passport in countriesespecially if your expires early and you plan to travel abroad. RELATED: All you need to know about passports And if your passport comes out of the pages, you'll have to order a new one. Starting this year, this year, The State Department interrupted 24-page entries, once available for the existing passport, in an attempt to improve security. US citizens can now choose from a passport of 28 or 52 pages. Bottom line: If you want to avoid being left without a passport during your next trip, do not wait.
